

Week one: Giving an introduction and definition of Grammar and its concepts. Giving a general explanation of tenses and word order in English.

Week two: Presenting units 1-4: present continuous, and present simple.

Week three: presenting units 5-8: past simple, past continuous, and present perfect.

Week four: Reviewing the previously studied units and opening the door to classroom interactions.

Week Five: presenting units 9-12: present perfect continuous, and the uses of since and for.

Week six: presenting units 13-16: past perfect and past perfect continuous.

Week seven: Reviewing the previously studied units and opening the door to classroom interactions.

Week Eight: presenting units 17-20: explaining the uses of have and have got, used to, and the structure of the expressions of future.

Week nine: presenting units 20-23: completing the expressions of future (will, shall), and be going to.

Week ten: Reviewing the recently studied material and opening the door to discussions among students.

Week eleven: presenting units 24-27: will be (ing) and will have (p.p), the uses of while and when, and modal auxiliaries.

Week twelve: Completing the units of modal auxiliaries 28-30.

Week thirteen: Explaining the uses of must, might, etc.

Week fourteen: Doing oral and written tests.