

Under the patronage of Prof. Mushtaq Taleb Al-Nada, Vice-Chancellor of Anbar University for Scientific Affairs and Dean of the College of Pharmacy and in support of the National Classification of Universities Project, the College of Pharmacy at Anbar University hosted visiting professor and German consultant Dr. Saman Al-Hweizi to deliver a valuable lecture entitled "Liver Dialysis as a Treatment Option for Patients in Acute Liver Failure And the chronicle)) this Tuesday at 10:00 am and on the Ibn Rushd Hall and in the presence of the deans of the colleges of the medical group Assistant Professor Dr. Zaker Mohammed Mohsen Dean of the College of Medicine and Professor Dr. Nazzal Dean of the College of Dentistry and a large number of members College of Medical Group Colleges and students of the fourth and fifth stages in the College of Pharmacy ... During the lecture, this important medical technique was reviewed, which is not found in our beloved country and its role in removing the accumulated toxins on the liver and washing it and presented many important points of discussion in the medical field, The German doctor. At the end of the lecture, the Assistant Scientific Assistant and the Dean of the College presented the shield of the College to the visiting professor and supported his participation in appreciation and appreciation for his presence in Anbar province. It was agreed to activate many scientific axes with the German Universities of Rostock and Hanover, The Dean's assistants and the Chairman and members of the Clinical Laboratory Sciences branch for their efforts in establishing such a very important scientific meeting

To view details click here

