

What are the features of the poet?

- .1He has a great ability to see and feel anything without any external excitement, that is mean he doesn't need anyone to stimulate him.
- .2He is more sensible and delicate than others.
- .3He has a sensitive mind that makes him feel and see and create in using proper language.
- .4He has a great knowledge about human nature.
- .5He needs inner impulse inspiration .
- .6He must has a powerful imagination that enable him to create a new expression .

How to produce a good poetry?

- .1He must be sincere, treating his meter with depth and vitality.
- .2His poetry must come naturally without any kind of artificially.
- .3He must avoid a false emotions and colorful language.
- .4His poem should be universal appeal and he must deal with strange things.
- .5If he applied these features he'll live in the reader mind for a long time.

Why do we read poetry?

- .1We read poetry for enjoyment because poetry is a beautiful type of literature in which we find pleasure and comfort.
- .2It is enable us to see things differently in enriching our expression of life, nature and love.
- .3When we read poetry we may be came wiser from the richness of poet imagination.

