UNIT 1

Introduction to auxiliary verbs

There are three classes of verbs in English.

- The auxiliary verbs do, be, and have These are used to form tenses, and to show forms such as questions and negatives.
- 2 Modal auxiliary verbs Must, can, should, might, will, and would are examples of modal auxiliary verbs. They 'help' other verbs, but unlike do, be, and have, they have their own meanings. For example, must expresses obligation and can expresses ability. (See Units 4, 5, 8, and 9.)

These are all the other verbs in the language, for example, play, run, help, think, want, go, etc.

Do, be, and have can also be used as full verbs with their own meanings.

I do my washing on Saturdays.

She does a lot of business in Eastern Europe.

What do you do? = What's your job? (The first do is an auxiliary; the second is a full verb.)

We are in class at the moment.

They were at home yesterday.

I want to be a teacher.

He has a lot of problems.

They have three children.

A note on have and have got

There are two forms of the verb have: have as a full verb with do/does/ did for questions, negatives, and short answers and have got where have is an auxiliary.

Workbook p8 More information on have/have got

1.1 Tenses and auxiliary verbs

When do, be, and have are used as auxiliary verbs, they make different verb forms.

In the Present Simple and the Past Simple there is no auxiliary verb, so do, does, and did are used to make questions and negatives (except with be / have got).

Where do you work? She doesn't like her job. What did you buy? We didn't buy anything.

1 Be + verb + -ing is used to make continuous verb forms. Continuous verb forms describe activities in progress and temporary activities.

He's washing his hair. (Present Continuous) They were going to work. (Past Continuous) I've been learning English for two years. (Present Perfect

I'd like to be walking along the beach right now. (Continuous infinitive)

2 Be + past participle is used to form the passive. Paper is made from wood. (Present Simple passive) My car was stolen yesterday. (Past Simple passive) The house has been redecorated. (Present Perfect passive) This homework needs to be done tonight. (Passive infinitive) There is an introduction to the passive on p137.

have

Have + past participle is used to make perfect verb forms. He has worked in seven different countries. (Present Perfect) She was crying because she had had some bad news. (Past Perfect) I'd like to have met Napoleon. (Perfect infinitive)

Perfect means 'before,' so Present Perfect means 'before now.' (See Units 7 and 10.) Past Perfect means 'before a time in the past.' (See Unit 3.)

1.2 Negatives and auxiliary verbs

To make a negative, add -n't to the auxiliary verb. If there is no auxiliary verb, use don't/doesn't/didn't.

Negative He's working. He isn't working. I was thinking. I wasn't thinking. I've read the book. I haven't read the book. She works in a bank. She doesn't work in a bank. They like skiing. They don't like skiing. He went on holiday. He didn't go on holiday.

It is possible to contract the auxiliaries be and have and use the uncontracted not.

He's not playing today. (= He isn't playing today.) We're not going to Italy after all. (= We aren't going to Italy ...) I've not read that book yet. (= I haven't read the book yet.)

I'm not working. NOT Lamn't working.

1.3 Questions and auxiliary verbs

To make a question, invert the subject and the auxiliary verb. If there is no auxiliary verb, use do/does/did.

She's wearing jeans. You aren't working. You were born in Paris. Peter's been to China. We have been studying. I know you. He wants ice-cream. They didn't go out.

Question What is she wearing? Why aren't you working? Where were you born? Has Peter been to China? Have you been studying? Do I know you? What does he want? Why didn't they go out?

There is usually no do/does/did in subject questions. Compare:

Who wants ice-cream? What happened to your eye? Who broke the window?

What flavour ice-cream do you want? What did you do to your eye? How did you break the window?

1.4 Short answers and auxiliary verbs

Short answers are very common in spoken English. If you just say Yes or No, it can sound rude. We use short answers after Yes / No questions. To make a short answer, repeat the auxiliary verb. In the Present and Past Simple, use do/does/did.

Are you coming with us? Have you had breakfast? Kate likes walking. Mary didn't phone. Don't forget to write.

Short answer Yes, I am.

No, I haven't. No, she doesn't. She hates it. Yes, she did. You were out. No, I won't.

UNIT 2

2.1 Present Simple

Form

Positive and negative

I We You They	work. don't work.
He She It	works. doesn't work.

Ouestion

Where	do	I we you they	live?
vviiere	does	he she it

Do you live in Bristol? Does he have a car?

Short answer Yes, we do. No, he doesn't.

The Present Simple is used to express:

- 1 an action that happens again and again (a habit). I go to work by car. She drinks ten cups of coffee a day. I wash my hair twice a week.
- 2 a fact that is always true. Ronaldo comes from Brazil. Some birds fly south in winter. My daughter has brown eyes.
- 3 a fact that is true for a long time (a state). He works in a bank. I live in a flat near the centre of town. I prefer coffee to tea.

Spelling of verb + -s

- 1 Most verbs add -s to the base form of the verb. drives helps
- 2 Add -es to verbs that end in -ss, -sh, -ch, -x, and -o. washes watches fixes goes
- 3 Verbs that end in a consonant + -y change the -y to -ies. carries flies worries tries But verbs that end in a vowel + -y only add -s. says plays enjoys

Workbook pl4 Pronunciation of -s at the end of a word Adverbs of frequency

1 We often use adverbs of frequency with the Present Simple.

0% 100% never rarely not often sometimes often usually always

2 They go before the main verb, but after the verb be. Compare: I usually start school at 9.00. They're usually in a hurry in the morning.

I don't often go to bed late. She never eats meat. I rarely see Peter these days. I'm not often late for school. He's never late.

We're rarely at home at the weekends.

3 Sometimes and usually can also go at the beginning or the end. Sometimes we play football. We play football sometimes. Usually I go shopping with friends. I go shopping with friends usually.

Never, always, rarely, and seldom cannot move in this way. NOT Never I go to the shopping mall. Always I have tea in the morning.

4 Every day, etc., goes at the end. He phones me every night.

2.2 Present Continuous

Form

Positive and negative

I	'm 'm not
He/She/It	's isn't	eating.
We/You/They	're aren't

Question

What	am is	I he/she/it we/you/they	doing?
What	is are	he/she/it we/you/they	doing?

Short answer

Are you going by train?	Yes, I am. No, I'm not.
-------------------------	----------------------------

Use

The Present Continuous is used to express:

- 1 an activity that is happening now. Don't turn the TV off. I'm watching it. You can't speak to Lisa. She's having a bath.
- 2 an activity or situation that is true now, but is not necessarily happening at the moment of speaking. Don't take that book. Jane's reading it. I'm doing a French evening class this year.
- 3 a temporary activity.

Peter is a student, but he's working as a waiter during the holidays. I'm living with my parents until I find a place of my own.

4 a planned future arrangement. I'm having lunch with Glenda tomorrow. We're meeting at 1.00 outside the restaurant.

Spelling of verb + -ing

- 1 Most verbs add -ing to the base form of the verb. wearing visiting eating
- Verbs that end in one -e lose the -e. having coming hoping writing Verbs that end in -ee don't drop an -e. agreeing seeing

Grammar Reference 2.2-2.3

💔 lie lying

3 Verbs of one syllable, with one vowel and one consonant, double the consonant.

stopping getting running planning jogging If the final consonant is -y or -w, it is not doubled. playing showing

2.3 State verbs

There are certain groups of verbs that are usually only used in the Present Simple. This is because their meanings are related to states or conditions that are facts and not activities. This is a feature of the use of the Present Simple. The groups of verbs are:

Verbs of thinking and opinions

believe	think	understand	suppose	expect
agree	doubt	know	remember	forget
mean	imagine	realize	deserve	prefer

I believe you.

Do you understand?

I know his face, but I forget his name.

Verbs of emotions and feelings like love hate care hope wish want admit

I like black coffee. Do you want to go out?

I don't care.

Verbs of having and being belong own have possess contain cost seem appear need depend on weigh come from resemble

This book belongs to Jane. How much does it cost? He has a lot of money.

Verbs of the senses

look hear taste smell feel

The food smells good.

We often use can when the subject is a person.

Can you smell something burning? I can hear someone crying.

2 Some of these verbs can be used in the Present Continuous, but with a change of meaning. In the continuous, the verb expresses an activity, not a state. Compare:

I think you're right. We're thinking of going to the library.

(opinion) (mental activity) He has a lot of money.

She's having a bad day. (possession) (activity)

I see what you mean. Are you seeing Nigel tomorrow?

(understand) (activity)

The soup tastes awful. I'm tasting the soup to see if it needs salt. (activity)

(state)

Introduction to the passive

The passive is dealt with in Units 2, 3, and 7.

Form

to be + past participle

The tense of the verb to be changes to give different tenses in the passive. Compare: The annual company dinner is being held next week. (Present Continuous passive) All the employees are invited every year. (Present Simple passive) Family members weren't invited last year, but this year they were. (Present Perfect passive)

Most people would love to be invited to the dinner. (Passive infinitive)

Use

1 Passive sentences move the focus from the subject to the object of active sentences. Charles Dickens wrote Bleak House in 1852.

Bleak House, the classic novel, was written by Charles Dickens.

The passive is not just another way of expressing the same sentence in the active. We choose the active or the passive depending on what we are more interested in. In the first sentence, we are more interested in Charles Dickens; in the second sentence, Bleak House has moved to the beginning of the sentence because we are more interested in the novel.

- 2 By and the agent are often omitted in passive sentences if the agent:
 - is not known
 - My apartment was robbed last night.
 - is not important.
 - This bridge was built in 1886.
 - is obvious.
 - I was fined £100 for speeding.
- 3 The passive is associated with an impersonal, formal style. It is often used in notices and announcements.
 - Customers are requested to refrain from eating or drinking.
 - It has been noticed that reference books have been removed from the library.
- 4 In informal language, we often use you, we, and they to refer to people in general or to no person in particular. In this way, we can avoid using the passive.

You can buy stamps in lots of shops, not just the post offices. They're building a new department store in the city centre.

We speak English in this shop.

Be careful! Many past participles are used as adjectives.

I'm very interested in modern architecture.

We were extremely worried about you.

I'm exhausted! I've been working hard all day.

2.4 Present Simple and Present Continuous passive

Form

It	is is being	mended.
They	are are being	mended.

Use

The uses are the same in the passive as in the active.

My car is serviced every six months. (habit)

Computers are used in all areas of life and work. (fact that is always true)

Sorry about the mess. The house is being redecorated at the moment. (activity happening now)

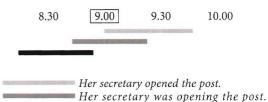

UNIT 3

Introduction to past tenses

We use different past tenses to focus on different moments and periods of time in the past.

Look at the diagram. Read the sentences.

When Andrea arrived at work at 9.00 a.m. ...

■ Her secretary had opened the post.

Form

The form of the Past Simple is the same for all persons.

Positive

I He/She/It We You They	finished left arrived	yesterday. at 3 o'clock. three weeks ago.
-------------------------------------	-----------------------------	---

Negative

I She They (etc.)	didn't	finish leave	yesterday. at 3 o'clock.
----------------------------	--------	-----------------	-----------------------------

Question

When did	you he they (etc.)	finish the report? get married?
----------	-----------------------------	------------------------------------

Short answer

Did you enjoy the meal?	Yes, we did. No, we didn't.
-------------------------	--------------------------------

Use

The Past Simple is used to express:

- 1 a finished action in the past.
 We met in 2000.
 I went to Manchester last week.
 John left two minutes ago.
- 2 actions that follow each other in a story.

 Mary walked into the room and stopped. She listened carefully. She heard a noise coming from behind the curtain. She threw the curtain open, and then she saw ...

3 a past situation or habit.

When I was a child, we lived in a small house by the sea. Every day I played on the beach with my brother.

This use is often expressed with used to.

We used to live in a small house ... I used to walk for miles ...

Spelling of verb + -ed

- 1 Most verbs add -ed to the base form of the verb. worked wanted helped washed
- 2 When the verb ends in -e, add -d. liked used hated cared
- 3 If the verb has only one syllable, with one vowel + one consonant, double the consonant before adding -ed.

stopped planned robbed

But we write cooked, seated, and moaned because there are two vowels.

4 The consonant is not doubled if it is -y or -w.

played showed

5 In most two-syllable verbs, the end consonant is doubled if the stress is on the second syllable.

pre'ferred ad'mitted

But we write 'entered and 'visited because the stress is on the first syllable.

6 Verbs that end in a consonant + -y change the -y to -ied. carried hurried buried

But we write enjoyed, because it ends in a vowel + -y.

There are many common irregular verbs.

>> Irregular verbs p157

Past Simple and time expressions

Look at the time expressions that are common with the Past Simple.

I met him last night.
two days ago.
yesterday morning.
in 2001.
in summer.
when I was young.

3.2 Past Continuous

n 1.1 1

Positive and negative

Positive	and negati	ve
I He She It	was wasn't	working.
We You They	were weren't

Question

What	was	I she he it	doing?
	were	we you they

Short answer

Were you looking for me? Yes, I was./No I wasn't.
Were they waiting outside? Yes, they were./No, they weren't.

Use

We often use the Past Continuous in sentences with the Past Simple. The Past Continuous refers to longer, background activities, while the Past Simple refers to shorter, completed actions.

The children were playing in the garden ...

... when their grandparents

The Past Continuous is used:

- 1 to express activities in progress before, and probably after, a particular time in the past.
 - At 7 o'clock this morning I was having my breakfast. I walked past your house last night. There was an awful lot of noise. What were you doing?
- 2 for descriptions.

Jan looked beautiful. She was wearing a green cotton dress. Her eyes were shining in the light of the candles that were burning nearby.

- 3 to express an interrupted past activity.

 When the phone rang, I was having a shower.

 While we were playing tennis, it started to rain.
- 4 to express an incomplete activity in the past in order to contrast with the Past Simple that expresses a completed activity.

 I was reading a book during the flight. (I didn't finish it.)

 I watched a DVD during the flight. (the whole DVD)

Note

The Past Simple is usually used to express a repeated past habit or situation. But the Past Continuous can be used if the repeated habit becomes a longer setting for something. Compare:

I studied English for ten years.

I first met Harry while I was studying English.

▶ Workbook p20 More information on while, during, and for

3.3 Past Simple or Past Continuous?

- 1 Sometimes we can use the Past Simple or the Past Continuous. The Past Simple focuses on past actions as simple facts. The Past Continuous focuses on the duration of past situations and activities. Compare:
 - A I didn't see you at the meeting last night.
 - B No. I stayed at home and watched football.
 - A I didn't see you at the meeting last night.
 - B No, I was watching football at home.
- 2 Questions in the Past Simple and Past Continuous refer to different time periods: the Past Continuous asks about activities before; the Past Simple asks about what happened after.

When his father died, Peter was studying medicine at medical school. He decided that it was better to go home to his mother and postpone his studies.

What was Peter doing when his father died? What did Peter do when his father died?

He was studying. He went home to his mother.

3.4 Past Perfect

Perfect means 'before,' so Past Perfect refers to an action in the past that was completed before another action in the past.

The form of the Past Perfect is the same for all persons.

Positive and negative

You We (etc.)	'd (had) hadn't	seen him before. finished work at 6 o'clock.
---------------------	--------------------	---

Question

Where had	you she	been before?
where had	they (etc.)	been before:

Short answer

Had he already left?	Yes, he had. No, he hadn't.
----------------------	--------------------------------

lise

1 The Past Perfect is used to make clear that one action in the past happened before another action in the past.

When I got home, I found that someone had broken into my apartment and had stolen my DVD player, so I called the police.

Action 1: Someone broke into my apartment and stole my DVD player.

Action 2: I got home and called the police.

I didn't want to go to Joe's house to watch TV because I'd seen the programme before.

Action 1: I saw the programme.

Action 2: Joe saw the programme.

Notice the difference between the following sentences:

When I got to the office, Peter went home. (= First I arrived, then Peter left.) When I got to the office, Peter had gone home. (= First Peter left, then I arrived.)

3.5 Past tenses in the passive

Form

Past Simple Passive was/were + past participle Past Continuous Passive was/were being + past participle Past Perfect Passive had been + past participle

Use

The uses are the same in the passive as in the active. The bridge was built in 1876. (finished action in the past) The bomb was being defused when it exploded. (interrupted past activity) The letter didn't arrive because it had been sent to my old address. (one action before another action in the past)

UNIT 4

Introduction to modal verbs

The modal verbs are can, could, may, might, must, will, would, should, ought to. They are known as modal auxiliary verbs because they 'help' another verb. (See also Units 1, 5, 8, and 9.)

I can swim.

Do you think I should go?

Form

- 1 There is no -s in the third person singular. She can sing. He must be tired. It might rain.
- 2 There is no do/does/don't/doesn't in the question or negative. What should I do? Can I help you? You mustn't steal! I won't be a minute. He can't swim.
- 3 Modal auxiliary verbs are followed by the infinitive without to. The exception is ought to.

You must go. I'll help you. You ought to see a doctor.

4 They have no infinitives and no -ing forms. Other expressions are used instead.

I'd love to be able to play golf.

I hate having to get up on cold, winter mornings.

5 They don't usually have past forms. Instead, we can use them with perfect infinitives:

You should have told me that you can't swim. You might have drowned!

or we use other expressions:

I had to work hard in school.

Could is used with a past meaning to talk about a general ability. I could swim when I was six. (= general ability)

To talk about ability on one specific occasion, we use was able to / managed to.

The prisoner was able to/managed to escape by climbing on to the roof of the prison. NOT could escape

Use

1 Modal verbs express our attitudes, opinions, and judgements of events. Compare:

'Who's that knocking on the door?'

'It's John.' (This is a fact.)

'Who's that knocking on the door?'

'It could/may/might/must/should/can't/'ll be John.' (These all express our attitude or opinion.)

2 Each modal verb has at least two meanings. One use of all of them is to express possibility or probability. (See Unit 9 p147.)

I must post this letter! (= obligation)

You must be tired! (= deduction, probability)

Could you help me? (= request)

We could go to Spain for our holiday. (= possibility)

You may go home now. (= permission)

'Where's Anna?' 'I'm not sure. She may be at work.' (= possibility)

Modal verbs of obligation and permission

4.1 have (got) to

Form

Positive and negative

I/You/ We/They	have to don't have to	1.11
He/She	has to doesn't have to	work hard.

Question

	I
Do	you (etc.)	have to work hard?

Use

Have to is not a modal verb.

- 1 Have to expresses strong obligation. It expresses a general obligation based on a law or rule, or based on the authority of another person. It is impersonal. Children have to go to school until they are 16. (a law) Mum says you have to clean your room before you go out. (mother's order)
- 2 Have got to is common in British English but it is more informal than have to.

I've got to go now. See you!

Don't go to bed late. We've got to get up early

'Go and tidy your room.' 'Have I got to?' 'Yes, you have!

3 Have to expresses a general repeated obligation. I always have to tell my parents where I'm going. Have got to expresses an obligation on one particular occasion.

I've got to get up early tomorrow to catch a train.

can and be allowed to

Affirmative and negative

I/You/ We/They	can/can't are allowed to aren't allowed to	park here.
He/She	can/can't is allowed to isn't allowed to	park nere.

Question

Can	I/you/we etc.
Am	I		1
Are	you	allowed to	park here?
Is	he

Use

Can is a modal verb.

Can and be allowed to express permission. Can is more informal and usually spoken.

You can borrow my bike, but you can't have the car. I need it.

They can't come in here with those muddy shoes!

You're allowed to get a driving licence when you're 17.

Are we allowed to use a dictionary for this test?

He isn't allowed to park here.

4.2 should, ought to, and must

Form

Should, ought to, and must are modal verbs.

I/You/We/They He/She/ It	t to work hard.
-----------------------------	-----------------	--

Use

1 Should and ought to express mild obligation, suggestions, or advice. They express what, in the speaker's opinion, is the right or best thing to do. We often use them with I think/don't think You're always asking me for money. I think you should spend less. You shouldn't sit so close to the television! It's bad for your eyes. You ought to be more careful with your money.

2 Should I/she/we ... ? is possible. We often use Do you think ... ?

Should I try to eat less?

Do you think I should see a doctor?

 Must , like $\mathit{have}\ \mathit{to}$, expresses strong obligation. $\mathit{Must}\ \mathit{expresses}$ an obligation that involves the speaker's opinion. It is personal.

I must get my hair cut. (This is me talking to me.)

You must go and visit your grandmother. (A parent talking to a child.)

4 Must is also associated with a formal, written style. All visitors must show proper ID. (Sign in the lobby of an office building) Books must be returned on or before the due date. (Instructions in a library) have to and must, don't have to and mustn't

- 1 Have to and must are sometimes interchangeable. I must be home by midnight. I have to be home by midnight. But have to is used more often than must. If you are unsure which to use, it is probably safer to use have to.
- 2 Must I ... ? is possible, but question forms with have to are more common. Do I have to do what you say, or can I do what I want?
- 3 Have to has all forms; must does not.

I had to work until midnight last night. (Past) You'll have to study hard when you go to college. (Future) She's a millionaire. She's never had to do any work. (Present Perfect) I hate having to get up on cold, winter mornings. (-ing form) If you were a nurse, you would have to wear a uniform. (Infinitive)

4 Don't have to and mustn't are completely different.

Don't have to expresses absence of obligation – you can but it isn't necessary. Some people iron their socks, but you don't have to. I think it's a waste of time. When you go into a shop, you don't have to buy anything. You can just look. Mustn't expresses negative obligation – it is very important not to do something. You mustn't steal other people's things. It's wrong.

► Workbook p28 Further practice of must and have to

You mustn't drive if you're tired. You could kill someone!

Could

4.3 Making requests: can, could, will, and would

1 There are many ways of making requests in English.

Can Could Will Would	you	help me, please? pass the salt, please?
Would y	ou mind	helping me, please?
Can	T	speak to you, please?

Do you mind if I open the window? Would you mind if I opened the window?

Can, could, will, and would are all modal verbs.

Could is a little more formal; can is a little more familiar. Could I ... ? and Could you ... ? are very useful because they can be used in many different situations.

ask you a question?

- 3 Here are some ways of responding to requests:
 - A Excuse me! Could you help me?
 - B Sure. Of course. Well, I'm afraid I'm a little busy right now.
 - A Would you mind if I opened the window?
 - B No, not at all. No, that's fine. Well, I'm a little cold, actually.

4.4 Making offers: will and shall/should

- Will and shall /should are used to express offers. They are both modal verbs.
- The contracted form of will is used to express an intention, decision, or offer made at the moment of speaking. Come over after work. I'll cook dinner for you. 'It's Jane's graduation today.' Is it? I'll buy her some flowers.' Give him your suitcase. He'll carry it for you. Don't worry about catching the bus. Dave'll give you a lift. Give it back or we'll call the police!

In many languages, this idea is often expressed by a present tense, but in English this is wrong.

I'll give you my number. NOT I give you my number. I'll carry your suitcase. NOT I carry your suitcase. Other uses of will are dealt with in Unit 5.

Shall / Should ...? is used in questions with the first person, I and we. It expresses an offer, a suggestion, or a request for advice. 'Shall I carry your bag for you?' 'That's very kind. Thank you.' 'Shall we go out for a meal tonight?' 'Mmm. I'd love to.' 'What shall we do? We haven't got any money.' 'We could ask Dad.' We use should to make an informal suggestion.

What should we have for dinner? What should we do tonight?

UNIT 5

Introduction to future forms

There is no future tense in English as there is in many European languages. However, English has several forms that can refer to the future. Three of these are will, going to, and the Present Continuous. I'll see you later. (will)

We're going to see a football match tonight. Do you want to come? (going to)

I'm seeing the doctor tomorrow evening. (Present Continuous)

The difference between them is not about near or distant future, or about certainty. The speaker chooses a future form depending on how the speaker sees the future event. Is it a plan, a decision, an intention, an offer, a prediction, or an arrangement? This is the important question to ask when choosing a future form. There is more about this in Use below.

5.1 will/going to and the Present Continuous

Form

Positive and negative

I He They	'll won't	help you.
I'm/I'm not She's/She isn't We're/We aren't	going to	watch TV tonight.
I'm/I'm not He's/He isn't You're/You aren't	catching the 10 o'clock flight.

Question

What time	will you are you going to	arrive?
	are you meeting th	e manager?

Note

We avoid saying going to come or going to go. We're coming tomorrow. When are you going home?

Use

Plans, decisions, and intentions (will and going to)

Will is used as a modal auxiliary verb to express a decision, intention, or offer made at the moment of speaking. We saw this use in Unit 4. (See 4.4.) Remember that you can't use the present tense for this use.

I'll have the steak, please. NOT I have the steak. I'll see you tomorrow. Bye! NOT I see you tomorrow.

Give me a call sometime. We'll go out for coffee. 'Jeff, there's someone at the door!' 'OK, I'll get it.'

going to

Going to is used to express a future plan, decision, or intention made before the moment of speaking.

When I grow up, I'm going to be a doctor.

Jane and Peter are going to get married next month.

We're going to paint this room blue.

Facts and predictions (will and going to)

will

The most common use of will is as an auxiliary verb to show future time. It expresses a future fact or prediction. It is called the pure future or the Future Simple.

We'll be away for two weeks.

Those flowers won't grow under the tree. It's too dark.

Our friendship will last forever.

You'll be sick if you eat all those sweets!

Will for a prediction can be based more on an opinion than a fact. I don't think Laura will do very well in her exam. She doesn't do any work.

I am convinced that inflation will fall to three per cent next year.

going to

Going to can also express a prediction, especially when it is based on a present fact. There is evidence now that something is certain to happen.

She's going to have a baby. (We can see she's pregnant.)

Our team is going to win the match. (It's four-nil, and there are only five minutes left to play.)

It isn't going to rain today. (Look at that beautiful blue sky.)

Note

Sometimes there is no difference between will and going to.

In September he	will start is going to start	his course at university.
-----------------	------------------------------	---------------------------

Arrangements (Present Continuous)

The Present Continuous can be used to express a future arrangement between people. It usually refers to the near future.

We're going out with Jeremy tonight.

I'm having my hair cut tomorrow.

What are we having for lunch?

Think of the things you might put in your diary to remind you of what you are doing over the next few days and weeks. These are the kinds of events that are often expressed by the Present Continuous for the future. The verbs express some kind of activity or movement.

I'm meeting Peter tonight.

The Taylors are coming for dinner.

I'm seeing the doctor in the morning.

Remember that you can't use the present tense for this use.

We're going out for a meal on Saturday evening.

NOT We go out for a meal on Saturday evening.

We're catching the 10 o'clock flight.

NOT We catch the 10 o'clock flight.

What are you doing this evening?

NOT What do you do this evening?

Sometimes there is no difference between an agreed arrangement (Present Continuous) and an intention (going to).

We're going to get We're getting	married in the spring.
-------------------------------------	------------------------

UNIT 6

Introduction to like

Like can be a verb or a preposition.

Like as a verb can be followed by -ing or to, sometimes with a change in meaning.

I like going out at the weekend. (general enjoyment)

I like to sit in a hot bath and read. (habits and preferences)

Like as a verb has a person as the subject:

I like modern architecture.

I don't like the way he looks at me.

Do you like fish?

Would you like a coffee?

Like as a preposition has an object after it:

She's wearing a hat like mine.

He's nothing like his father.

That sounds like a plane.

You're behaving like children.

That new friend of his - what's he like?

6.1 What ... like?

What is/are/was/were ... like? is used to ask about the permanent nature of people and things. It asks for a description or an impression or a comparison.

What's the health service like in your country?

What are the new students like?

Be careful!

1 With a description or an impression, we do not use like in the answer.

What's London like? It's quite big, and it's very interesting.

NOT It's like quite big ...

What's Amanda like? She's tall, attractive, and very funny.

NOT She's like tall ...

2 With a comparison, we can use like in the answer. Here, like means similar to / the same as.

What's London like? It's like New York, but without the tall huildings. (= It's similar to ...)

What's Amanda's daughter like?

She's just like Amanda. (= She's the same as ...)

► Workbook p39 Like and as

6.2 How ...?

 $1 \ \ How \dots$? is used to ask about the present condition of something that can change.

How's work these days? It's better than last year. How was the traffic this morning? It was worse than usual.

To ask about the weather, we can use both questions.

How's the weather What's the weather like where you are?

2 $How \dots$? is also used to ask about people's health and happiness. Compare:

How's Peter? He's fine.

What's Peter like? He's a nice guy. He's quite tall, has dark hair ...

3 How ...? is also used to ask about people's reactions and feelings.

How's your meal?

How's your new job?

6.3 How ... ? or What ... like?

Sometimes we can use What ... like? or How ... ?, but they aren't the same. What ... like? asks for an objective description. How ...? asks for personal feelings. Compare:

How was the match? It was great!

What was the match like? It was very exciting. It ended 4-4!

6.4 Verb + -ing or infinitive

Verb patterns p158

6.5 Relative clauses

1 Relative clauses are used to tell us which person or thing we are talking about. They make it possible to give more information about the person or thing being spoken about.

The boy has gone to the beach. (Which boy?)

The boy who lives next door has gone to the beach.

The book is very good. (Which book?)

The book that I bought yesterday is very good.

This is a photo of the hotel. (Which hotel?)

This is a photo of the hotel where we stayed.

2 We use who to refer to people (and we can also use that).

The book is about a girl who marries a millionaire.

We use that to refer to things (and we can also use which).

What was the name of the horse that won the race?

3 When who or that is the object of a relative clause, it can be left out.

The person you need to talk to is on holiday. The book I bought yesterday is very good.

But when who or that is the subject of a relative clause, it must be included.

I like people who are kind and considerate.

I want a computer that is easy to use.

4 Which can be used to refer to the whole previous sentence or idea. I passed my driving test on my first attempt, which surprised everyone. Jane can't come with us, which is a shame.

5 We use whose to refer to someone's possessions.

That's the woman whose bag was lost.

That's the man whose son won the race.

6 We can use where to refer to places.

The hotel where we stayed was right on the beach.

We went back to the place where we first met.

6.6 Participles

Participles after a noun define and identify in the same way as relative clauses.

That person driving the red Porsche is my cousin.

The men seen outside were probably the thieves.

UNIT 7

Introduction to the Present Perfect

The same form (have + past participle) exists in many European languages, but the uses in English are different. In English, the Present Perfect is essentially a present tense, but it also expresses the effect of past actions and activities on the present.

Present Perfect means 'before now'. The Present Perfect does not express when an action happened. If we say the exact time, we have to use the Past Simple.

In my life, I have travelled to all seven continents. I travelled around Africa in 1998.

7.1 The Present Perfect

Form

Positive and negative

I We You They	've haven't	lived in Rome.
He She	's hasn't

Question

How long have	I we you	known Peter?
How long has	she he

Short answer

Have you always lived in Budapest?	Yes, I have. No, I haven't.
------------------------------------	--------------------------------

Use

The Present Perfect expresses:

1 an action that began in the past and still continues (unfinished

We've lived in the same house for 25 years. Peter's worked as a teacher since 2000. How long have you known each other? They've been married for 20 years.

Many languages express this idea with a present tense, but in English this is wrong.

Peter has been a teacher for ten years. NOT Peter is a teacher for ten years.

These time expressions are common with this use.

for	two years a month a few minutes half an hour	since	the end of the class August 8 o'clock
	ages		New Year

We use for with a period of time and since with a point in time.

2 an experience that happened at some time in one's life. The action is in the past and finished, but the effects of the action are still felt. When the action happened is not important.

I've been to the United States. (I still remember.)

She's written poetry and children's stories. (in her writing career) Have you ever had an operation? (at any time in your life up to now)

How many times has he been married? (in his life)

The adverbs ever, never, and before are common with this use.

Have you ever been to Australia?

I've never tried bungee jumping.

I haven't tried sushi before.

Questions and answers about definite times are expressed in the Past Simple.

When did you go to the United States?

Was her poetry published while she was alive?

I broke my leg once, but I didn't have to stay in the hospital. He met his best friend when they were at school.

a past action that has a present result. The action is usually in the recent past.

The taxi hasn't arrived yet. (We're still waiting for it.) What have you done to your lip? (It's bleeding.)

We often announce news in the Present Perfect because the speaker is emphasizing the event as a present fact.

Have you heard? Tomorrow's exam has been cancelled.

Susan's had her baby!

I've ruined the meal.

Details about definite time will be in the Past Simple.

She resigned because she got a better job offer.

She had a baby boy this morning. It was a difficult birth. I didn't watch it carefully enough.

The adverbs yet, already, and just are common with this use.

I haven't done my homework vet. (Negative)

Has the taxi arrived yet? (Question)

I've already done my homework.

She's just had some good news.

🚺 Be careful with been and gone.

He's been to the United States. (experience – he isn't there now) She's gone to the United States. (present result – she's there now)

▶ Workbook p45 Further practice of been and gone

7.2 Present Perfect or Past Simple?

1 The Present Perfect is for unfinished actions. The Past Simple is for completed actions. Compare:

Present Perfect

I've lived in Texas for six years. (I still live there.) I've written several books.

(I can still write some more.)

Past Simple

I lived in Texas for six years. (Now I live somewhere else.) Shakespeare wrote 30 books. (He can't write any more.)

2 We can see that the Present Perfect refers to indefinite time and the Past Simple refers to definite time by looking at the time expressions used with the different tenses.

Present Perfect	- indefinite	Past Sim	ple – definite
I've done it I've already don I haven't done i		I did it	yesterday. last week. two days ago. at 8 o'clock. in 1987. when I was young. for a long time.

Be careful with this morning/afternoon, etc.

Have you seen Amy this morning? (It's still morning.)

Did you see Amy this morning?

(It's the afternoon or evening.)

7.3 Present Perfect Simple passive

Form

has/have been + past participle

It	has been	11
They	have been	sold.

lise

The uses are the same in the passive as in the active.

Two million cars have been produced so far this year. (unfinished past) Has she ever been made redundant? (past experience)

'Have you heard? Two hundred homes have been washed away by a tidal wave!' (present importance)

7.4 Phrasal verbs

There are four types of phrasal verbs. Types 1, 2, and 3 can be literal or idiomatic. Type 4 are nearly always idiomatic.

Type 1

Verb + particle (no object)

- a He put on his coat and went out.
- b I didn't put enough wood on the fire and it went out.

In a, the verb and particle are used literally. In b, they are used idiomatically. Go out means stop burning.

Examples with literal meaning:

Sit down.

She stood up and walked out.

Please go away.

She walked right past the store without noticing it.

Examples with idiomatic meaning:

The marriage didn't work out. (= succeed)

Our plans fell through. (= fail)

Type 2

Verb + particle + object (separable)

- a I put up the picture.
- b I put up my sister for the night.

In a, the verb and particle are used literally. In b, they are used idiomatically. Put up means give someone food and a place to sleep, usually for the night or a few days.

Type 2 phrasal verbs are separable. The object (noun or pronoun) can come between the verb and the particle.

I put up the picture. I put up my sister. I put the picture up. I put my sister up. If the object is a pronoun, it always comes between the verb and the particle.

I put it up. I put her up. NOT I put up it.

NOT I put up her.

Examples with a literal meaning:

The waiter took away the plates.

Don't throw it away.

They're pulling that old building down.

Examples with an idiomatic meaning:

I put off the meeting. (= postpone)

Don't let me down. (= disappoint)

Type 3

Verb + particle + object (inseparable)

a She came across the room.

b She came across an old friend while she was out shopping.

In a, the verb and particle are used literally. In b, they are used idiomatically. Come across means find by accident.

Type 3 phrasal verbs are inseparable. The object (noun or pronoun) always comes after the particle.

NOT She came an old friend across. or She came her across.

Examples with a literal meaning:

I'm looking for Jane.

They ran across the park.

We drove past them.

Examples with an idiomatic meaning:

I'll look after it for you. (= care for)

She takes after her father. (= resemble in features, build, character, or disposition)

He never got over the death of his wife. (= recover from)

Type 4

Verb + particle + particle

I get along very well with my boss.

I'm looking forward to it.

How can you put up with that noise?

Type 4 phrasal verbs are nearly always idiomatic. The object cannot change position. It cannot come before the particles or between the particles.

NOT I'm looking forward it to.

UNIT 8

Introduction to conditionals

There are many different ways of making sentences with if. It is important to understand the difference between sentences that express real possibilities, and those that express unreal situations.

Real possibilities

If it rains, we'll stay home.

(if + Present Simple + will)

If you've finished your work, you can go home.

(if + Present Perfect + modal auxiliary verb)

If you're feeling ill, go home and get into bed.

(if + Present Continuous + imperative)

Unreal situations

You would understand me better if you came from my country.

(would + if + Past Simple)

If I were rich, I wouldn't have any problems.

(if + were + would)

If I stopped eating junk food, I could run faster.

(if + Past Simple + modal auxiliary verb)

There are several patterns that you need to know to understand the variations. Note that a comma is usual when the if clause comes first.

🐌 8.1 First conditional

if + Present Simple + will

Positive

If I find your wallet, I'll let you know.

We'll come and see you on Sunday if the weather's good.

Negative

You won't pass the test if you don't study.

If you lose your ticket, you won't be able to go.

What will you do if you don't find a job?

If there isn't a hotel, where will you stay?

Note that we do not usually use will in the if clause.

NOT If you will leave now, you'll catch the train. If I'll go out tonight, I'll give you a call.

If can be replaced by unless (= if ... not) or in case (= because of the possibility ...).

Unless I hear from you, I'll come at 8.00.

I'll take my umbrella in case it rains.

lice

1 First conditional sentences express a possible condition and its probable result in the future.

Condition (if clause)

If I find a sweater in your size, If you can't do the homework,

If you can find my purse, If you've never been to Wales,

Result (result clause)

I'll buy it for you. give me a call.

I might buy you an ice-cream. you should try to go there one day.

2 We can use the first conditional to express different functions (all of which express a possible condition and a probable result). If you don't stop the noise, I'll phone the police! (a threat) Careful! If you touch that, you'll burn yourself! (a warning) I'll post the letter if you like. (an offer) If you lend me £100, I'll pay you back tomorrow. (a promise)

8.2 Time clauses

Conjunctions of time (when, as soon as, before, until, after) are not usually followed by will. We use a present tense even though the time reference is future.

I'll call you when I get home.

As soon as dinner is ready, I'll give you a call.

Can I have a word with you before I go?

Wait until I come back.

We can use the Present Perfect if it is important to show that the action in the time clause is finished.

When I've read the book, I'll lend it to you. I'll go home after I've done the shopping.

8.3 Zero conditional

Zero conditional sentences refer to 'all time,' not just the present or future. They express a situation that is always true. If means when or

If you spend over £50 at that supermarket, you get a five per cent discount.

8.4 Second conditional

if + Past Simple + would

If I won some money, I'd go around the world. My father would be proud if he could see me now.

I'd give up my job if I didn't like it. If I had a lot of money, I wouldn't spend it all.

What would you do if you saw someone shoplifting? If you needed help, who would you ask?

Note that was can change to were in the condition clause.

If I Were rich, I he	wouldn't have to work.
----------------------	------------------------

Use

1 We use the second conditional to express an unreal situation and its probable result. The situation or condition is improbable, impossible, imaginary, or contrary to known facts. If I were on the Olympic basketball team, I'd train everyday. (But it's not very likely that I will ever be on the team.) If my mother knew about my plans, she'd be very surprised. (But she doesn't.) If Ted needed money, I'd lend it to him. (But he doesn't need it.)

2 Other modal verbs are possible in the result clause.

I could buy some new clothes if I had some money. If I saved a little every week, I might be able to save up for a car. If you wanted that job, you'd have to apply very soon.

3 If I were you, I'd ... is used to give advice.

If I were you, I'd apologize to her.

I'd take it easy for a while if I were you.

8.5 First or second conditional?

Both conditionals refer to the present and future. The difference is about probability, not time. It is usually clear which conditional to use. First conditional sentences are real and possible; second conditional sentences express situations that will probably never happen.

If I lose my job, I'll ... (My company is doing badly. There is a strong possibility of being made redundant.)

If I lost my job, I'd ... (I probably won't lose my job. I'm just speculating.)

If there is a nuclear war, we'll all ... (Said by a pessimist.) If there was a nuclear war, ... (But I don't think it will happen.)

Notice the use of would in the following sentences: She'd look better with shorter hair. (= If she cut her hair, she'd look better.)

would to express preference

I'd love a cup of coffee. Where would you like to sit? I'd rather have coffee, please. I'd rather not tell you, if that's all right. What would you rather do, stay in or go out?

would to express a request

Would you open the door for me? Would you mind lending me a hand?

UNIT 9

Modal verbs

Modal verbs can express ability, obligation, permission, and request. They can also express the idea of probability or how certain a situation is. There is an introduction to modal auxiliary verbs on p139.

Modal verbs of probability

9.1 Expressing possibility/probability: the present/future

Must and can't express the logical conclusion of a situation: must = logically probable; can't = logicallyimprobable. We don't have all the facts, so we are not absolutely sure, but we are pretty certain. He must be exhausted. He can't even stand up.

Sue can't have a ten-year-old daughter! Sue's only 24! He's in great shape, even though he must be at least 60! A walk in this weather! You must be joking! Is there no answer? They must be sleeping. They can't be out this late!

2 Could and may/might express possibility in the present or future. May/Might + not is the negative. Couldn't is rare in this use.

He might be lost.

They could move to a different place.

Dave and Beth aren't at home. They could be at the supermarket, I suppose.

We may go to Greece for our vacation. We haven't decided yet.

Take your umbrella. It might rain later.

I might not be able to come tonight. I might have to work late.

The continuous infinitive

Must/could/can't/might + be + -ing make the continuous form in the present.

Peter might be working late. They can't be working very hard.

Compare:

'John's grass is lovely. He must cut it regularly.' (habit) 'What's John doing in the garden?' 'He might be cutting the grass.' (now)

9.2 Expressing possibility/probability: the past

The perfect infinitive

Must/could/can't/might + have + past participle express degrees of probability in the past.

He must have been exhausted.

She can't have told him about us yet.

He might have got lost.

They could have moved house.

The continuous infinitive

Must/could/can't/might + have + been + -ing make the continuous form in the past.

She must have been joking.

They can't have been trying very hard.

He could have been lying to you.

Workbook p57 Further practice of the continuous infinitive

9.3 Asking about possibilities

To ask about possibility/probability we usually use Do you think ...? Question forms with modal verbs of probability are unusual.

'Do you think she's married?'

'Where do you think he's from?'

'Do you think they've arrived yet?'

'She can't be.'

'He might be Spanish or Portuguese.' 'They may have. Or they might have got stuck in the traffic.'

9.4 So do I! Neither do I!

When we agree or disagree using So .../Neither ... I, we repeat the auxiliary verbs. If there is no auxiliary, use do/does/did. Be careful with sentence stress.

AGREEING

I like ice-cream. So do I. So am I. I'm wearing jeans. I can swim. So can I. I went out. So did I. Neither do I.

I don't like working. I can't drive.

Neither can I. I haven't been to Paris Neither have I.

DISAGREEING

I don't like Mary. I do. We're going now. We aren't. I can speak Polish. I can't. I haven't been skiing. I have.

I like pizza. I saw Pat yesterday. I'm going to have some coffee.

I don't. I didn't. I'm not.

9.5 too and either/neither

We express that we have the same ideas as somebody else by using too and either/neither. With too and either we repeat the auxiliary verbs or, if there is no auxiliary, use do/does/did.

I like ice-cream. I have always studied hard. I don't like working. I can't play chess.

I do, too. / Me too. I have, too. / Me too. I don't, either. / Me neither. I can't, either. / Me neither.

Continuous forms

Remember, the following ideas are expressed by all continuous forms:

1 activity in progress. Be quiet! I'm thinking. I was having a shower when the phone rang. I've been working since 9 o'clock this morning.

2 temporary activity.

We're staying with friends until we find a place of our

We've been living with them for six weeks.

3 possibly incomplete activity.

I'm writing a report. I have to finish it by tomorrow. Who's been eating my sandwich?

Workbook p63 Further practice of simple and continuous forms

10.1 Present Perfect Continuous

Positive and negative

I We You They	've haven't	been working.
He She It	's hasn't

Question

How long	have	I you we	been working?
	has	she it

We use the Present Perfect Continuous to express:

1 an activity that began in the past and is continuing now.

I've been studying English for three years.

How long have you been working here?

Sometimes there is no difference between the simple and the continuous.

I've played I've been playing	football since I was a boy.
----------------------------------	-----------------------------

If the continuous is possible, English has a preference for using it.

The continuous can sometimes express a temporary activity, and the simple a permanent state.

I've been living in this house for the past few months. (temporary)

I've lived here all my life. (permanent)

Remember that state verbs rarely take the continuous form (see 2.3 p136).

I've had this book for ages. I've always loved sunny days. 2 a past activity that has caused a present result.

I've been working all day. (I'm tired now.) Have you been crying? (Your eyes are red.) Roger's been cooking with garlic. (I can smell it.)

The past activity might be finished or it might not. The context usually makes this clear.

Look out of the window! It's been snowing! (It has stopped snowing now.) I've been writing this book for two years. (It still isn't finished.) I'm covered in paint because I've been decorating the bathroom. (It might be finished or it might not. We don't know.)

10.2 Present Perfect Simple or Continuous?

The simple expresses a completed action.

I've painted the kitchen, and now I'm doing the bathroom.

The continuous expresses an activity over a period and things that happened during the activity.

I've got paint in my hair because I've been decorating.

Because the simple expresses a completed action, we use it if the sentence gives a number or quantity. Here, the continuous isn't possible.

I've been reading all day. I've read ten chapters.

She's been eating ever since she arrived. She's eaten ten biscuits already.

2 Some verbs don't have the idea of a long time, for example, find, start, buy, die, lose, break, stop. These verbs are more usually found in the simple.

Some verbs have the idea of a long time, for example, wait, work, play, try, learn, rain. These verbs are often found in the continuous.

I've cut my finger. (One short action.)

I've been cutting firewood. (Perhaps over several hours.)

10.3 Time expressions

Here are some time expressions often found with certain tenses.

Past Simple

I lived in Chicago for six years. I saw Jack two days ago. They slept during the flight. She learnt to speak French while she was at university.

Present Perfect

We've been married for ten years. They've been living here since June. She hasn't been working since their baby was born.

We're going on vacation for a few days. The class ends in 20 minutes. I'll be home in a half an hour.

Prepositions with dates, months, years, etc.

UNIT 11

Question words

Look at the questions. Notice that What, Which, and Whose can combine with a noun and How can combine with an adjective or an adverb.

What kind of books do you like? What size shoe do you wear? What colour are your eyes? Which pen do you want? Which way is it to the station? Whose book is this? How much do you weigh? How many brothers and sisters do you have? How many times have you been on a plane? How much homework do you get every night? How tall are you? How often do you go to the dentist?

How long does it take you to get to school?

11.1 Indirect questions

Indirect questions have the same word order as the positive and there is no do/does/did.

Tom lives in California. Do you know where Tom lives ? NOT Do you know where does Tom live?

We often make direct questions into indirect questions to make them sound 'softer' or more polite.

Direct question

What time do the banks close?

Indirect question

Could you tell me Do you know Do you happen to know Have you any idea Do you remember what time the banks close?

Would you mind telling me If there is no question word, use if or whether. I don't know if I'm coming or not.

I wonder whether it's going to rain.

Here are some more expressions that introduce indirect questions:

I don't know I wonder I can't remember I've no idea I'd like to know I'm not sure how long the journey takes.

11.2 Question tags

Form

1 Question tags are very common in spoken English. The most common patterns are: positive sentence - negative tag You're Jenny, aren't you? or negative sentence - positive tag It isn't a very nice day, is it?

2 We repeat the auxiliary verb in the tag. If there is no auxiliary, use do/does/did.

You haven't been here before, have you? You can speak French, can't you? We should take the children out, shouldn't we? Banks close at four, don't they? She eats meat, doesn't she? You went to bed late, didn't you?

For negative question tags with I'm ..., use aren't. NOT I'm late, am't I? I'm late, aren't I? But NOT I'm not late, aren't I? I'm not late, am I?

3 Notice the meaning of Yes and No in answer to question tags. 'You're coming, aren't you?' 'Yes.' (= I am coming.) 'No.' (= I'm not coming.)

Use

We use question tags to keep a conversation going by involving listeners and inviting them to participate.

The meaning of a question tag depends on how you say it. A question tag with rising intonation is like a real question it is asking for confirmation. It means 'I'm not sure, so I'm checking'. The speaker thinks he/she knows the answer, but isn't absolutely certain.

Your name's Abigail, isn't it? You're in advertising, aren't you? You work in the city, don't you?

A question tag with falling intonation isn't really a question at all - it is a way of making conversation. It means 'Talk to me'. The speaker expects people to agree with him/her.

Beautiful day, isn't it?

It's wonderful weather for swimming, isn't it?

That was a great match, wasn't it?

You haven't been here before, have you?

We can also use question tags with negative sentences to make a polite request for information or help.

You couldn't lend me your car this evening, could you?

UNIT 12

12.1 Tense changes in reported statements

It is usual for the verb in the reported clause to move 'one tense back' if the reporting verb is in the past tense (e.g., said, told).

Present -→ Past Present Perfect — → Past Perfect ▶ Past Perfect

'I'm going.' He said he was going.

'She's passed her test.' He told me she had passed her test. 'We moved to Canada She said they had moved to Canada when she was six. when I was six.'

The verb also moves 'one tense back' when we are reporting thoughts and feelings.

I thought she was married, but she isn't.

I didn't know he was a teacher. I thought he worked in a bank. I forgot you were coming. Never mind. Come in.

I hoped you would call.

- 2 There is no tense change if:
 - the reporting verb is in the present tense (e.g. says, asks). 'The bus will be late.' He says the bus will be late. 'I come from Spain.' She says she comes from Spain.
 - the reported speech is about something that is still true. 'Rain forests are being destroyed.' She told him that rain forests are being destroyed. 'I hate football.' I told him I hate football.

Some modal verbs change.

→ could → would → might

'She can type well.' He told me she could type well.

'I'll help you.' She said she'd help me.
'I may come.' She said she might come.

Other modal verbs don't change.

'You should go to bed.' He told me I should go to bed. 'It might rain.' She said she thought it might rain.

Must stays as must, or changes to had to.

'I must go!' He said he must/had to go.

12.2 Reporting verbs

There are many reporting verbs.

We rarely use say with an indirect object (i.e., the person spoken to). She said she was going. NOT She said to me she was going. Tell is always used with an indirect object in reported speech.

She told	me the doctor us her husband	the news.
----------	---------------------------------------	-----------

We can use that after say and tell.

He told her (that) he would be home late. She said (that) sales were down from last year.

Many verbs are more descriptive than say and tell, for example, explain, interrupt, demand, insist, admit, complain, warn.

Не	explained complained admitted	that he would be home late.
116		that sales were down that year.

Sometimes we report the idea, rather than the actual words. 'I'll lend you some money.' He offered to lend me some money. 'I won't help you.' She refused to help me.

12.3 Reported questions

The word order in reported questions is different in reported speech. There is no inversion of subject and auxiliary verb and there is no do/does/did. This is similar to indirect questions (see p149).

'Why have you come here?' I asked her why she had come here. 'What time is it?' He wants to know what time it is. 'Where do you live?' She asked me where I lived.

We do not use a question mark in a reported question. We do not use say in reported questions.

He said, 'How old are you?' He asked me how old I am.

2 If there is no question word, use if or whether.

She wants to know if whether	she should wear a dress.
------------------------------	--------------------------

12.4 Reported commands, requests, etc.

For reported commands, requests, offers, and advice, we use verb + person + to + infinitive.

They told us to go away. They asked me to look after their cat. He urged the teachers to go back to work. She persuaded me to have my hair cut. I advised the President to leave immediately.

Say is not possible. Use ask, told, etc.

2 For negative commands, use not before to. He told me not to tell anyone. The police warned people not to go out.

3 We use tell for reported statements and reported commands, but the form is different.

Reported statements

He told me that he was going. They told us that they were going abroad. She told them what had been happening.

Reported commands

He told me to keep still. The police told people to move on. My parents told me to clean up my room.

We use ask for reported commands and reported questions, but the form is different.

Reported commands

I was asked to attend the interview. He asked me to open my suitcase. She asked me not to leave.

Reported questions

He asked me what I did for a living. I asked her how much the rent was. She asked me why I had come.
